SYSTEM AND METHOD FOR DOWNLOADING CODE

ABSTRACT

A system and method for downloading code or other data to a group of remote units via a plurality of data paths. The data paths used for transmission may be selected based on the criticality of the code or data to the remote unit and the loss rate potential of each data path. The system and method may download the data using a carouselling technique.

5

50P3987.01